

Dear Students,

This supplement of D.I.P.S Buzz was not in our planned schedule, but the expectation buzz in the school on having an Annual Day edition prompted my team to come out with this copy. Rather than the regular collection of articles, poems, sketches etc., this newsletter reflects the Annual Day Celebrations in images. We have covered all the three days, namely Exhibitions, Junior School Annual Day and Senior School Annual Day. We have also included short interviews from our Guest, Parent and Students. Hope you relive the spirit of UDAAN 2023 through these images.

Interview of Mrs. Babita Agarwal, Chief Guest on Exhibition Day

Anisha Negi:- Ma'am how was your experience today?

Mrs. Babita Agarwal :-It was excellent, seeing these kids reminded me of my childhood.

Anisha Negi :- Which stall did you like the most?

Mrs. Babita Agarwal :-All the were good but the best were the stalls having working models. The 'कवि सम्मेलन' was very impressive. I liked the poem recited by student Avni Sharma and what further impressed me was that the poem was her own composition.

Anisha Negi :- What difference did you find between the exhibition which was held earlier and this one?

Mrs. Babita Agarwal :-The biggest difference between the two was that this exhibition had working models and no charts were used.

Anisha Negi :- Was today's exhibition according to your expectation?

Mrs. Babita Agarwal :-It was much above my expectations.

Anisha Negi :- According to you how useful is the exhibition in the development of a student?

Mrs. Babita Agarwal :-Exhibitions are very helpful in today's education, they are based on the theory of learning which enables students to learn more.

Interview of Mrs. Indrani Lahiri, Guest of Honour

Deepshikha:- Kindly tell us about your experience of exhibition?

Mrs. Indrani Lahiri:-I enjoyed the exhibition very much and the different types of things you people are doing. My first pleasant surprise was when I saw your student speaking about Ukraine and how it has effected the economy of the world. I was amazed to see that there were no charts anywhere and the students were explaining everything in every stall for every subject. There were working models which were very good and can come into good use as teaching aids in classrooms.

Deepshikha:- What did you like most about the exhibition?

Mrs. Indrani Lahiri:-I like the GCEI stall very much. It exemplified what your school is doing with GCEI, where Global Cultural Educational Initiative and International group of schools from three continents are working on environment sustainability and sustainability issues. What impressed me was that one of the students had made a stool using plastic bottles, some other had made bags which could be used in the market as most of us use "SINGLE USE PLASTIC" which is not environmental friendly. Your Art and Craft and Subject exhibitions were brilliant. The girl enacting as President Droupadi Murmu in the DIPS Buzz stall was also beautiful. To be honest it is very difficult to choose the favourite as all presentations were very impressive.

Deepshikha:- You have attended many exhibitions what difference did you find in D.I.P.S ?

Mrs. Indrani Lahiri:-One most important difference what I found was that the students didn't use chart paper. whether it was to show the circulation of blood, how water gets into a pump or how filtration takes place. All were from through the working models that was brilliant.

Deepshikha:- Do you think these type of exhibition helpful in holistic development of students. How?

Mrs. Indrani Lahiri:-Certainly, hundred percent. As when learning from a text book happens, most of the information remain in the text book. But projects and working models. are helpful for actual learning. Doing things ourselves goes beyond the text book. It was fantastic about the exhibition.

Deepshikha:- Is there anything else which you observed and like to share with us?

Mrs. Indrani Lahiri :-What I observed and liked that the students were not only presenting the project, they were enjoying it as well. I loved the Hindi presentation about the poets, some students were reciting the poem of the poet from the past and one student had composed herself, that creative element was very strong.

Deepshikha:- Would you like to give any suggestions to our students?

Ms. Lahiri:- You have already made a great beginning now keep on going from strength to strength.

Interview of school students: Avni Sharma

Deepshikha:- In which exhibition did you participate?

Avni Sharma:-I was the part of two exhibitions, GCEI and Hindi. I made one project for GCEI which was based on hunger: "Wastage of Food". I also gave a live performance in Hindi exhibition where I recited my self-composed poem "माँ का वीर"

Deepshikha:- How did you get the idea of the poem you recited?

Avni Sharma:-I love to write poems and I have written poems on different subjects. When I came to know that in Hindi exhibition there is a poetry corner where students are going to recite poems of different types, I thought of reciting my own composition.

Interview of Mrs. Shobha Devi (Parent)

Deepshikha:- What did you like in the exhibition?

Parents:- Everything was amazing in the exhibition. Students have performed very well. There was a remarkable change from the previous exhibition.

Deepshikha:- Which stall or project did you like most?

Parents:- I can't pick a particular stall because the presentation by all the students while explaining the project was good. The project themselves were very impressive.

Deepshikha:- Some stalls were different like Yoga, Zumba, GCEI, DIPS BUZZ etc. What did you like about these?

Parents:- Yes, these stalls were different and new too. It was good to see the active participation of D.I.P.S students. I can see that the students are moving ahead and raising the bar higher and higher.
